Project AIM and CACGP help students succeed

Project Aim's Spring Semester New & Continuing Student Orientation happened Friday, Jan. 24 in the MPA. Nearly 170 students are enrolled in this valuable program. From the President... Dr. Mary A.Y. Okada

We begin 2014 with the highest spring enrollment in our college's history: 2,452 students! Breaking enrollment records is becoming routine here at GCC, but don't let that fool you. Higher enrollment means more work for all of us, yes, but it also means that we are fulfilling our important mission in a very big way! As we get into this semester, let's focus on how we can strengthen that mission through each of our respective roles as faculty who teach our courses, as staff who provide critical support, and as administrators who oversee our programs. I look forward to all the activities this semester will bring – including the wonderful service learning projects that our students and faculty produce. Biba GCC!

Dr. Okada was a 2013 Guam Business Magazine Executive of the Year nominee. She and GCC HR administrator Joann Muna look fabulous at the EOY gala on Jan. 18 at the Hyatt Regency Guam.

President Okada is nominated for 2013 Executive of the Year

Congratulations to President Mary Okada on being one of the 10 nominees (and the only female nominee this year!) for the Guam Business Magazine's 2013 Executive of the Year. Your accomplishments have made GCC shine, and you were stunning in your dress and in your lip-synching duet with fellow nominee Oscar Miyashita at the Employee of the Year gala on Jan. 18. We are proud to work with you!

Thanks to GCC Talent Club dancers Lydia Sombria, Ellane Guiao, Kevin Malanum, and Joe Gozum for dancing "backup" for Dr. Okada and Oscar during their lip sync performance to Elton John's "Don't Go Breakin' My Heart," and to Talent Club sponsors Theresa Datuin and Tonirose Realica for organizing the students' participation. GCC students rock!

Joint Leadership meeting

GCC administrators and members of the Faculty Senate met on January 17 to discuss budget and other issues at the college. It was a very productive discussion!

Preparing to Keep our Guard up

On January 19, LTC Robert Crisostomo of the US Army National Guard and LTC Mike Tougher, Commander, 1st Battalion, US Army, appeared on GCC's A Higher Degree to talk about the GCC Keep Your Guard Up program that has been put together by the Continuing Education & Workforce Development Office in cooperation with the Governor's Office, Guam Chamber of Commerce, the Guam Contractors Association, the Guam Department of Labor and the Agency for Human Resources Development, and island businesses, to assist nearly 300 soldiers who returned from Afghanistan this month to either unemployment or under-employment. The 90-day certification program is designed to help the soldiers jump-start careers in eight CTE fields.

Victor Rodgers, CEWD asst. director, meets with returning soldiers on Jan. 5 to discuss the GCC Keep Your Guard Up certification program.

SSHS students' rainy day hospitality

During the stormy last week of January, LMP students at SSSH practiced hospitality by providing a simple deed - "umbrella service" to help students stay dry walking to classes. GCC CTE LMP instructor Eric Chong says most people appreciated their good deed, but that a few refused the service. The students then reflected on the activity, which is similar to providing service at a hotel or restaurant.
