Campus Happenings ❖ President's Message ❖ Upcoming Events

Mission Statement:

The mission of Guam Community College is to be a leader in career and technical workforce development by providing the highest quality education and job training in Micronesia.

A record 2,661 students enroll!

New Students attended orientation in the MPA during two sessions on August 7th. In all, 364 students attended the event, learning all they need to know about attending GCC.

Students registered for classes, paid, got IDs, and met with instructors and department chairs during Express Registration Aug. 12-13 in the MPA.

Fall 2013 enrollment reached a new record for the seventh year in a row – as 2,661 students registered for classes. That number represents a 3% increase over fall 2012 enrollment.

“We are very excited that more people continue to want to improve their employment opportunities and their lives by taking classes at GCC. Our program additions, coupled with our renovation and expansion projects, have all been planned with enrollment increases in mind. This increase is a good problem to have, and we are handling it with student success and industry needs at the forefront of everything,” said Dr. Mary Okada, GCC president.

“The dedication that the administration, staff, and faculty put into making GCC a better place is reflected by the amount of students choosing to come to GCC,” said Jennifer Esteves, COPSA president.

Convocation

GCC faculty and administrators gathered for the annual convocation to start off the new academic year on August 12 at the LeoPalace Resort.

From the President... Dr. Mary A.Y. Okada

Another year, another record enrollment. It is our seventh one in a row, and yet another sign that our students and our workforce partners have confidence in GCC to produce a quality workforce! Thanks to all who attended our Convocation on Aug. 12th at LeoPalace. Despite a little hitch in the sound system, we started the academic year with a good understanding of our academic focus on increasing our students' degree completion rate and on using innovation to heighten and further our students' learning experiences at the college. We are encouraging innovative efforts for professional development and we want to focus funding efforts on innovative ideas. Remember that I have allocated up to $50,000 from our promotions and development account toward this effort. Look for the process to apply for these funds very soon.

Another focus this year is on trying to redesign developmental education to increase completion rates and improve college readiness for our students – a huge challenge for us!

Kudos to all involved in making our registration process run a little more smoothly this year. More and more students are registering online, so we only had two days of express registration. Now we just need them to file for financial aid a little earlier! Thank you to all of you for your hard work and dedication to GCC. Here's to an exciting and innovative academic year!

Okada receives AGA Excellence in Govt. Accountability award

From the ALO's desk... Dr. Ray Somera, VP for Academic Affairs

This year's Convocation theme, "Innovation and its Broader Impacts," reflects my academic vision to seek uncharted territories, and engage you in a journey towards new partnerships and collaborative projects beyond our walls, fences, and our shores.

Extending GCC's reach globally must be premised on four "if-and-when" principles, which can be stated as "If and when we internationalize our campus:"

1. We learn, support, and build on the existing languages, cultures, and histories of Guam's diverse peoples;
2. We develop, inspire, and instill respect and honor for various cultures among our students, faculty and other constituents;
3. We construct viable and robust educational and entrepreneurial regional and international partnerships; and
4. We fortify the college's role as a gateway to and bridge between Asia, the Pacific, the Americas, and the world.

Verbiage to capture this initiative will be included in the college's mission statement and be incorporated in the new institutional and organizational priorities for the upcoming academic year. The campus dialogue of rewriting our mission statement has been extended to the end of September in order to coincide with the re-development of our Institutional Strategic Master Plan 2014-2020.

The President will soon officially convene an Internationalization Initiative Task Force and appoint members. This office will evolve into a Center once the activities begin. A pilot test of this initiative occurred this summer when the President, Tourism Hospitality Dept. Chair Norman Aguilar and myself traveled to Bangkok to explore partnership opportunities with Dusit Thani International, whose Dusit Thani Hotel Guam will be opening in Tumon next year. The resulting Statement of Intent for Educational Exchange and Articulation involves faculty exchange, enrichment opportunities for our students, and a 2+2 Culinary program arrangement.

Fostering a collaborative relationship with UOG has required years of relationship-building, and we have been successful in having three programs: IAS, Criminal Justice and Education, articulate to bachelor programs. We were also successful in having two courses under our re-instituted Certificate in Family Services approved as equivalent courses in UOG's Social Work program.

At GCC, we continue to adapt, change, and innovate so that our institutional policies, procedures, practices and processes closely align with ACCJC accreditation standards. In order to facilitate this goal, I want everyone to take the online Accreditation Basics course at www.accjc.org so that by our Midterm Report due in March 2015, I can report that GCC takes its accreditation seriously. So far, about 39 of us have received a Certificate of Completion from ACCJC.

Another goal is to increase our degree completion by a certain percentage each year, in keeping with our Pledge of Commitment to Student Success and Completion. This academic year, we will explore more non-traditional pathways for our adult learners, like prior learning assessment, linking with industry certification providers, eight-week class formats, and other innovative strategies. To gain the broader impacts of innovations we initiate on campus, we must constantly think of things in a different light, as illuminated by various perspectives from all stakeholders. Welcome to another challenging and exciting academic year!

ECE students donate books

Breaking down ECERs

As part of its Public Health contract, the GCC Education Department provided training on “Breaking Down the ECERS” to daycare providers on August 24 in the MPA. Training focused on ways to raise an ECERS score on the different subscales of this environmental rating scale.

Chef Budde donates book collection to Culinary Arts

Retiring Hyatt Chef Josef Budde donated his extensive collection of cookbooks from around the world to the GCC Culinary Arts program on Aug. 14, including an 1840 edition of “The Century Cookbook and Home Physician.” Chef Paul Kerner says the books “are snapshots in time of what the food industry was highlighting during a particular period. We are so grateful to Chef Budde for donating this valuable resource for our students.” Budde is also a mentor chef to GCC Culinary students.

Hilton donates to CTE LMP

Hilton Guam Resort & Spa donated 4 duvets to the SSJS Lodging Management Program on August 15. The duvets help train students in current housekeeping standards. L-R: Beth Fernandez, Hilton Guam admin asst.; Edna Cortez, Asst. Housekeeping Mgr.; Tina Nabung, Housekeeping Mgr.; and Eric Chong, SSJS LMP instructor.

Project AIM orientation

Project AIM held its orientation for new and continuing students on Aug. 23 in the MPA. The program helps incoming freshmen to succeed in college by offering tutoring and a host of other services. For information call the Project AIM Office in the Student Center at 735-5594/5 or email projectaim@guamcc.edu.

CACGP at SSHS

Counselors from GCC’s College Access Challenge Grant Program presented to sophomores in Eric Chong’s Simon Sanchez High School Tourism Academy on Aug. 28, forging a partnership in helping students to succeed.

WorkKeys at SSHS

Chong also asked CE’s Chelsa Muna-Brecht to present information about the Workkeys skills assessment to his LMP juniors at SSHS.

Chong presents on service learning law

GCC CTE SSHS LMP instructor Eric Chong presented at the 2013 Guam Volunteer Conference on Aug 31 at the Marriott, on “Public Law 30-53 - Service Learning in the public schools.” Chong’s research revealed that, not surprisingly, there are challenges and issues related to the implementation of this law.

COPSA/Ecowarriors help clean up campus

The recycling bin area on campus is now clean thanks to the efforts of COPSA President Jennifer Esteves, and Treasurer Lawrence Alcairo, who are also GCC Ecowarriors, and CSI staff Donnie Lizama and Bobbie Leon Guerrero on Aug. 10. Si Yu'os ma'ase, crew!

AHEC Summer Academy finishes up Aug. 2

GCC's Area Health Education Center-sponsored Summer Academy introduced 38 high school students to health-related careers in the GCC Anthony A. Leon Guerrero Allied Health Center from July 23 - August 2. The academy taught participants about careers in the medical and health fields, helped to build math, science and English skills, and taught life skills that promote success as students and professionals. Instructors were John Hernandez, Naomi Lujan, Evita Espinosa and Mary Garvilles.

Counseling, CEWD at Governor's Families Fair

GCC Counselors and Continuing Education admin and staff represented GCC at the Governor's First Families Fair on August 11 at the Micronesia Mall Center Court.
